Fifty years of service to a large and prosperous community in Watworth county, and ministering not only to spiritual needs but aiding in many things outside of the scope of activities of the ordinary church, will be celebrated by the Richmond Methodist church on Sunday.

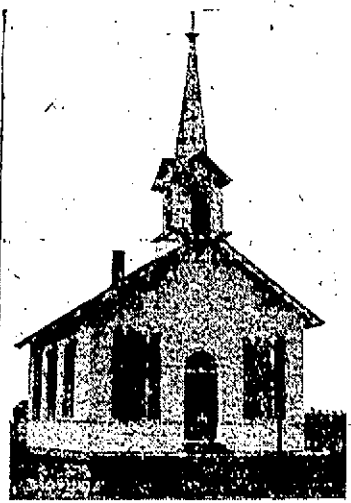

Playing a prominent part in the celebration will be the Rev. Samuel Lugg, Whitewater, now 84 years old, retired, who organized the church in 1872, and who sprang the present church in 1874 when he held preaching services in the Richmond Center school house. Another interested participant will be Mrs. Andrew Stewart, Whitewater, who was a charter member of the church. These two are the only ones who have survived the span of 50 years from the dedication of the church until now.

Built on Hill. Although the first services were held in 1874, it was not until January, 1879, that the society, formed by Elder Lugg, took steps towards the erection of a church building. A site on the farm of Mrs. H. Langley was chosen. This is at the point where state highway No. 30 and County Highway A intersect.

It is believed the early people were influenced in the selection of their building lot by the services passed which "I will look up to the hills from which cometh my help." This has literally been fulfilled during these 50 years. The church can be seen for miles around and from it one can view much of the large territory 15 miles long and eight miles wide from which comes the congregation of the Richmond church.

First Trustees. The first trustees chosen when the church opened in September 1879 were William Holbrook, James Harder, Stephen H. Smith, Andrew Stewart, Sidney Gray, Grey Sperry, Albert Morse, Thomas Cameron and George Calkins. All have passed on but some of their children and their grandchildren are now members of the church.

Among the community affairs instituted by Mr. Lugg is the community singing club, composed of 18 members directed by Mr. Lugg, and the community orchestra of eight pieces, also directed by the pastor. Mr. Lugg issues a monthly paper, "The Megaphone." He has found it pays to advertise. The news of the last year and the announcements for the coming month are included in the paper. All is done in striving to make it a "community church" and this has been accomplished in a large way.

Fair and Homecoming. In connection with the celebration, the church planned for Saturday and Sunday a community fair and homecoming. A big dinner was to be served Saturday by the Ladies Aid society and a baseball game, children's contests and a talk by C. F. Nordberg, commissioner of agriculture, were to follow. ## APOLLO CLUB TO SPONSOR CONCERT

Chicago "Little Symphony" Coming Oct. 6—Means Much to Future of Club.

Whether the Apollo club will be continued as an organization to sponsor winter programs of high class music or whether it will sink forever in oblivion depends upon the turnout at two concerts to be given here Friday, Oct. 6, according to announcement made by George S. Parker, president of the club, Saturday. It is hoped the public will rally to the support of the club and thereby ensure monthly concerts for the season of 1922-23.

Through arrangements by officers of the club, 25 artists of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, known as the "Chicago Little Symphony," will play two concerts here on that date, both at the Congregational church.

Concert for Children. The first will be at 4 p. m., for the benefit of the school children, who will be admitted at the special price of 25 cents. The evening concert will be at 8:15, and will be open to the public at $1 per ticket.

"We are indeed fortunate in securing this organization for an appearance in Janesville and we are hoping for two packed houses," said Mr. Parker. "The little symphony is appearing only twice in this section—in Janesville, and in Beloit, the day after. They were to have played in Madison but he was canceled. It is one of the best musical organizations in the country."

Plan for Support. "If this concert goes over, the Apollo club will resume its regular program. But if it doesn't, the club will make up the deficit and then discontinue it. It is costing $1,000 to put on this concert."

It is up to the citizens of Janesville to give the answer. To the Apollo club is as much a civic proposition as anything we have and it would be a shame to see the only organization in the city sponsoring high class concerts go out of existence."

The Apollo club has been in existence 20 years. Last season was the first in several that no winter program was conducted.

The brain is the central operator which controls the function and maintains the health of every organ in the body. Do you realize that the lungs could not function one minute if it were not for the brain activity? Do you know that if this operator in the brain should rest for five minutes, your life would end?

All over the body are nerves which extend from the brain to the tissue cells. There is no part of the body that is not supplied. These small nerves are the wires which carry the messages controlling function. The heart beats, the stomach digests, the glands secrete, and muscles produce motion because of the messages sent out from the brain, over these nerves.

If the nerves are out, the tissues which they supply can no longer function. However, it is also possible for them to be pressed upon, and if this happens, their ability to carry their messages from the brain is impaired.

This is exactly what happens in all cases of sickness. The nerves are pressed upon where they emerge from the spine, due to an abnormal position of the vertebrae between which they emerge. Thus the organ supplied is effected so it cannot properly function. If it is the nerve supplying the stomach, indigestion, or some other form of abnormality exists. If the nerve supplies the heart, heart trouble occurs, etc.

The chiropractor merely restores the vertebrae to its normal position, and when this is done and the pressure removed from the nerve, health exists. Whatever your sickness, let the chiropractor examine your spine. You may not realize that this is the real cause of your trouble, but to regain your health is to be convinced.

to the campaign for Luther Memorial student church. The new building cost approximately $250,000 and will be constructed on University avenue, opposite Lathrop hall. When completed it will seat 2,000 people.

The Barometer of Buying

You have a shopping barometer—a standard register of fair price levels. It is the only guide you need to safe spending.

Thank goodness, the day is long past when the purchaser had to stake his will and wits against those of the seller to satisfy his sense of value every time he bought anything. Today it is the merchant's basic policy—as well as his accepted duty—to make his knowledge serve his customers in order that it may serve himself.

Our advertising is, first of all, a barometer of sound values. A few minutes a day will keep you posted "on the market."

The Ex-Kaiser's Own Story

William II., deposed German emperor, has written in his exile an autobiography of extraordinary interest. He has presented his own side of the case, of course, in defending his position throughout the course of events culminating in the world war. Many of his statements cannot be accepted by the American reader, but none the less they are of engrossing interest.

His style is clear. His sentences are not involved, as a rule. There is little formality in his way of presenting the story, which at times is conversational, almost gossipy, especially when he describes the mannerisms, habits and methods of his advisers.

Many intimate reminiscences are given, and much correspondence hitherto unpublished. Secret meetings with the Russian czar and the English king are described in detail. The governments of the allied nations are assailed continually. The United States and Woodrow Wilson are blamed for much, as was to be expected. The German attitude is, of course, defended, but mistakes in Germany's diplomacy and various personal errors of judgment are admitted.

It is a story that will engage the absorbing interest of every reader of history and current affairs.

Publication will begin in The Chicago Daily News on Tuesday, September 26.

It goes without saying that the demand for this work of world-wide interest and consequence will be very great, and orders for The Chicago Daily News should be placed with local news-dealers without delay, in order to avoid disappointment, as the supply will doubtless, in many instances, be inadequate to the demand.

Readers who prefer to receive the paper by mail may send $1.00 to The Chicago Daily News, 15 North Wells street, Chicago, and receive it, postage paid, for two months.

NEXT WEEK'S PROGRAMS AT THE THEATERS.

APOLLO.
Seven days, starting Monday—Adolph Winninger Stock Co. in "The Love Bandit," "Cure for the Curables," "Birds of a Feather," "Speed," "The Gate Inn," "Men of the World," and "The Ghost Walkers."

BEVERLY.
Sunday and Monday—"My Old Kentucky Home," and "Hard Luck," with Buster Keaton.
Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—"By Night or by Day," with Norma Talmadge, and "The Roof Tree," with William Russell.
Friday and Saturday—"Pardon My Nerve," Charles "Duck" Jones.

MYERS.
Monday through Thursday—"The Dictator," Wallace Reid and Lila Lee.
Friday through Sunday—"The Dictator," Wallace Reid and Lila Lee.

Highly commendatory reviews of the opening performance of "The Dictator," with Wallace Reid and Lila Lee, at Chicago's newest theater Tuesday night, again reminded Janesville patrons that the exact same production is to be seen in this theater before Christmas. Manager Charles Boutin has had a contract with the producers to have the show appear at the Myers the night of November 13, with those two well-known favorites playing. At that time, the production will have left Chicago and will be headed for Milwaukee, when it will stop for the one performance here.

Those who planned to go to Chicago to see this play will probably change their minds, or so, something else there, as the Chicago cast in full has been promised Janesville. The early date is an added attraction.

The Myers' winter schedule of stage attractions, exclusive of vaudeville, which started last week, will occur the afternoon of October 10, when Sousa's famous band will make a first appearance here. Two nights later, October 13, the May Valentine company will produce the De Koven opera, "Robin Hood." This is one of America's standard operas, and its beautiful music and excellent story makes it always popular.

Other productions to come here before the winter is over are "The Bachelor," which has shown here last year, "Lichten," still playing to large houses in Chicago.

The theatrical events of next week here will be featured by the Adolph Winninger Stock company at the Apollo theater for seven days. At each of the theaters the usual high class moving picture productions and vaudeville will be seen. Theaters are now beginning to work into their winter schedule, after the usual summer lull in theatrical circles, and the larger numbers attending all houses are giving excellent shows. Especially has this been true the past two weeks.

AT THE APOLLO.
All the Winningers are popular with Janesville people, and perhaps Adolph and his company are a little more popular than the others because he is young and good looking, yet has that streak of comedy in his character that fills the house at each performance.

Formerly with his brothers in stock, Adolph has now secured a company of excellent actors of his own, and is making a successful tour of the country, especially this western section. He has been accorded a welcome wherever he appeared, and as Janesville has always proved a good town for the Winningers, he will have a good week here.

Excellent plays, well suited for the abilities of the leading man and all others in the company, and the kind of plays that will please those lovers of good stock, have been included in the repertoire. "The Love Bandit," the opening play, is said to be of a different character than is usually played by stock, and has been well received where played. All other plays are of a light nature, yet with a sound and interesting plot. New scenery and lighting effects will be featured, while the usual vaudeville numbers will occupy the time between acts. Matinees will be given daily, and it is probable that two night performances will be given on Saturday and Sunday.

AT THE BEVERLY.
"My Old Kentucky Home" has been compared to "Way Down East" in that it is said to contain the atmosphere of the south just as "Way Down East" did that of New England. Although it is a mother love picture to a great extent, it contains little of the "sob" element, and has many exciting scenes. Especially at the climax of the picture, during the horse race, is the excitement tense.

Opening scenes are of the prison life of the hero of the picture, who has been "railroaded" to the penitentiary for a crime done by another. This fact is unknown to his mother, a young southern lady, and when the boy is released, he comes home in all honor, but acquainted with some crooks, who work a snare on him in the final race. The efforts of the boy to conceal the fact of his imprisonment from his mother and sweetheart form a great part of the human interest. He is cleared in the end, when the two crooks are caught at their game and arrested.

Monte Blue plays the leading part in the production, while others, are Julia Swayne Gordon, in the part of the mother, Sigrid Holmquist, and Lucy Fox. Horse and race scenes are interesting and well portrayed.

By Right of Purchase is another society drama, the story of the woman who thought she did not love the man she married, and did love another. But the truth finally comes to her, and she realizes that her marriage had indeed been for love.

The lovely Norma Talmadge is good in any story, especially in the "right of purchase." She and her sister are said to have never made a poor it was taken in California, and some scenes even in South America. Instead of the usual immaculate or sportman's picture, this is popular male star, in which he is usually seen. In "The Dictator" he wears the garb of the South American with a telling effect on the girls. Big sombrero, bright sash, and white trousers and shirt.

Lila Lee is the dark-haired heroine of the story, while others in the cast are Theodore Kosloff, as her father, the "liberator," and Adrian Hale. It is said the picture has just completed successful runs in larger cities.

"The Bonded Woman" is even newer than "The Dictator," as it is yet playing large cities. Even to those who want a picture good, and to whom newness is not everything, it can be said that the production is an excellent one.

The story tells of the woe of a girl by two men—one a polished man from the city, another a devoted, devoted to her. She is a girl of the sea who follows her father, a sea-captain, and in the end, she is rescued from the clutches of the villain. The exciting moments of the picture, the sailor's love for her father and her sense of duty, which is one of the strong points of the picture, are well shown in the production. How she does it by wrecking the ship the villain is in particular, is said to be good.

Betty Compson has always had roles, that in "The Miracle Man," was such a one and since then she has been expected to appear in dramatic roles. She always has done this, and will probably continue because of her successful record in the past.

John Powers and Richard Dix are also in the supporting cast. In addition to this picture will be seen the usual four-act vaudeville bill. The bill last week was unusually good, and the saxophone sextet drew encore after encore.

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

THE PROPER CHOICE IN CAPS

Thursday's "Chat" I spoke of the cap as worn by a number of who, because of the great conceit of slipping it over an already formed a habit of wearing a cap in the house many of the day.

It does not mean there is any need to wearing a cap, for a head can be covered with a towel or hair curlers. Caps are only in vogue when they are not suited to needs. For instance, a sheer net cap, trimmed with frilly lace and satin bows or the all satin, or the other fanciful mixtures of satin and embroidery, which a "fancy" cap should never be worn with a negligee. In such cases it is part of, and should be, to go with the negligee. It has

The cap that is suited to wear while working through the house is one like the Dutch housewife wears. It is severely plain, very quaint and becoming to every type of face, either young or old. It is an honest cap and stands for utility; its simplicity amounts to perfection when we consider the high and low, the "pompom" or other washable dress and such a cap are perfectly combined.

The "fussy" cap becomes begrudged as soon as it is associated with such work as dusting and cleaning, and the cap that points a young woman's head are usually lost under the withered finery of this kind of head covering. In the case of older women it is the same. A cap worn by a woman many years older when they cover their heads with these fancy caps. I really feel that the women who adopt these caps for all-day wear have no more charming ideas for this utility.

hairpins of the Dutch housewives. It is worth a trip to the art galleries or a search through libraries for pictures of these women. One cap fits the head snugly, like an infant's cap, and is plain linen, with a small, ornamental lace with narrow handmade, heavily sewed around the entire cap without any fullness. Another one is made of fine linen, slightly full at the top of the crown to admit the knot of hair, while all around the front of the head is a wide, flat, stiff band. The third has a rolled band of the material turned back from the face, except at the ends which covers the ears, where the corners are bent forward. Such a cap will make the plainest face interesting.

STEAM PRESSURE CANNING POPULAR

Interest in steam pressure cooking and canning is growing rapidly in western states. The county home demonstration agents are being flooded with requests for demonstration of the pressure cooking, according to the report of Miss Connie Ronsigle, state director of home demonstration in Arkansas. Women in rural com-the pressure cooker" with an ease showing intimate acquaintance, and these women agree unanimously that the more one uses the cooker the more inclined one becomes to use it.

Many women who a few years ago were glad to learn canning by the hot water process, using the little hot water canner set up in the back yard or the clothes boiler on the cook stove, use the pressure canner and could not wait to return to the hot water and slower method. Beans, peas, corn, clams, soup mixtures, butter beans that have to be reprocesed a second and third day in hot water can be finished up in an hour with steam pressure. Similarly, steaks, roasts, greens, gumbos, soups, and back bones can be canned in a few hours with hot water in our

Steam pressure rivals the fireless cooker with the businesslike housekeeper. Any device that cooks the oldest of roasters in 45 minutes at 15 pounds pressure, or a turkey gobbler of advanced years in one hour, or dried beans or peas in 15 minutes at 15 pounds pressure, appeals to the housewife who practices thrift in time.

pressure cooker and cooker, when the pressure cooker makes its acquaintance, proves almost irresistible.

Within the next year Miss Gertrude E. Conant, state nutrition specialist, has given 27 demonstrations in cooking the whole meal in a pressure cooker before groups (not to individuals) who requested the instructions. She also gave 38 demonstrations in canning whole beavers and 18 hogs. The intrinsic value of beavers have brought on this country over what they have brought on foot was estimated by the owners at $1,055.

The work is carried on under the direction of the United States department of agriculture.

HEART AND HOME

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am truly with dunder. Is it true that vaseline will get rid of it? BRUNETTE

Vaseline is one of the best flowers, and will help get rid of it. It depends on the dryness of the scalp how often the vasa be applied. Once or twice a week, however, should be enough.

Make a straight part from the
to the back of the head and rub the hair thoroughly. Be care not to let it get on the hair it
When you have finished that part the scalp make another part and the hair. You have massaged the whole head.

Wait—I don't claim to be an

THOUGHT was rheumatism.

For it is well known that run-down heels and badly fitting are mistaken for rheumatism.

Moose Win on Loose Play; Edgerton-Evansville, Saturday

STUVENGEN HITS HOMER; HOWDY'S COME FROM REAR

Loose playing, marked by five errors and several bad exhibitions of judgment, cost the Black Cats the exhibition game with the Moose at the fair grounds Friday afternoon, 11 to 10. A crowd of 2,000 saw the contest.

Taking advantage of a series of bad plays upon the part of the Howdy Paps, the Stuvengens were leading by five runs when the Moose took their turn at the stick in the fourth frame. The Cats had played on their toes so well in the opening stanzas that their former mate, Braden, was pulled out of the box.

Stuvengen hits Homer. In the fourth and fifth the Moose turned the clever trick of making eight runs on six hits, due to three errors and a hit batsman, plus a homer by Stuvengen and a two-bagger by Wolf. Eight Moose faced Fire in the fourth and he had pitched to six men in the fifth when Lanphere changed first base with him and took the hill.

Stuvengen's home run followed a slight by Silverthorn that brought in two runs and put the Moose on top. "Stuvy's" smash drove in Silverthorn. The Felines made a sensational attempt in the ninth to stage a winning rally, almost succeeding in the attempt. They were four runs behind, the score standing, 11 to 2. Les Pire's only hit of the day, a long single to left field, started things. Lanphere struck out and Gregory fled to second. Condon singled and cleaned the sacks, a pretty peg by Clark from deep center keeping him from being caught in the act. Beckor brought in Condon, but Trevorah sent a fly back of second, concluding the game.

Soccer on Saturday. At 2 p. m. Saturday, the recently organized Janesville soccer team clashed with the Uniteds of Rockford in the first event of this kind ever held here. On the teams were many men who have played the game in Canada or European countries.

Evansville and Edgerton were to clash on the diamond at 3:30 p. m. after the cavalry concluded their performance, which was Friday was single at 2:30 and 3:30 p. m.

Under the direction of Captain Stordock, the cavalry Friday drew forth many rounds of applause from the large crowd. Exhibitions of lightning footings, hurdling, saber drill and charging under fire not only showed the abilities of the troop but excited admiration. A sham movement, with rifling firing, was part of the show.

Blaze the foot races were on the card for Saturday afternoon. FRIDAY'S BOX SCORE. Black Cats. A. B. R. H. P. O. A. E. # THE BUSINESS OF FARMING DAIRY—FARM BUREAU—LIVE STOCK

COUNTY NEEDS NEW TESTING CIRCUITS

Will Attempt to Form Seven New Cow Testing Associations.

By LEWIS C. FRENCH

Ten cow testing associations for Rock county are being organized. This is a big program. The success achieved with the three associations now functioning and the positive need of additional testing units is a good foundation to work upon for the future.

It is certain that the Rock county milk producers will have their own testing units in the near future. The Rock county milk producers are now organized into three associations. The Rock county milk producers are now organized into three associations. The Rock county milk producers are now organized into three associations.

Livestock development now in Rock county does not call for many more testing units. The situation is such that the Rock county milk producers are now organized into three associations. Rock county is just started in many respects. The development of the Rock county milk producers is now organized into three associations. The Rock county milk producers are now organized into three associations. The Rock county milk producers are now organized into three associations.

It is a bare-faced fact that about 25 percent of the cows now on Rock county are not earning enough in production to pay their feed bill. Still farmers hang on to them for the reason that they are cheap. The Rock county milk producers are now organized into three associations. Develop with Records. Testing associations have an important place in developing an improved herd. The cost is incidental to the value of the knowledge obtained. Association records give the owner something to talk about to prospective buyers. They also give the owner a basis for selecting the best of his herd. The Rock county milk producers are now organized into three associations. The Rock county milk producers are now organized into three associations. The Rock county milk producers are now organized into three associations.

One trip around the county with buyers seeking to buy a good cow would convince the farmer that they must have clean herds and production records to sell stock under present and future requirements.

Rock needs seven more cow testing associations to be started this winter. In the event this many may be put through a contest will be given for the best herd and cow under rules to be set by the testers and officers of the association. Breed associations should receive beyond the necessary for nothing talks so effectively as to point how what breeds of cattle stand high in the testing circles. The testing report are watched by farmers with the same interest as are baseball game by the baseball fan. It is a contest of production and when there are 10 testing associations in the county there will be no good inducements offered for the breeders to get high milk records.

It pays to advertise and boost a little when you have got something to boost about.

Bureau Seeking To Increase Limit In Farm Loan Act

The American Farm Bureau Federation is urging congress to amend the Federal Land Bank Act so as to provide that the maximum farm loan may be increased from $5,000 to $10,000. From the viewpoint of the mid-west states, which produce approximately 80 per cent of the food of the nation, it is absolutely essential that $10,000 be increased to $25,000 or even entirely eliminated, leaving the maximum amount of a farm loan to the discretion of the Board. Senator Arthur Capper and Congressman L. J. Dickinson, of Iowa, have introduced bills in the Senate and House respectively, are preparing a bill to provide for the increase in Federal Farm Loans. The American Farm Bureau Federation is urging congress to take this important bill before January 1.

Plum Trees Bear Following Spraying

Spraying fruit trees pays. On the farm of Mr. W. H. Hayward, near Janesville, Wis., they had a number of plum trees. These trees for six years were dormant and never bore. They called spraying last spring and this fall they produced a fine crop. Fifteen bushels were obtained with every plum free from worms and scabs. The housewife who obtained or purchased sprayed fruit found that it paid for every apple, plum was sound. There was no waste and the quality could not be improved upon.

Use Pure Bred Boars for Profitable Pork Production

By JOE HAAKA, ASST. SECY. NATION Duroc-Jersey Record Association.

It is profitable to produce pork to a satisfactory margin must be the cost of production and the final sale price of the finished hog on the hoof. The farmer and the feeder alike must make every hundred pounds of feed consumed produce the maximum number of pounds of pork in the shortest possible time. This can be done in grade or scrub hogs are used.

Ordinary or inferior hogs do not make satisfactory carcasses. While these facts are true and quite general, they still the majority of the hogs arriving at our market centers are of poor quality. This would indicate that the breeding show no evidence of good breeding. This would indicate that the breeding show no evidence of good breeding. FARM PARTNERSHIP KEEPS SONS HOME

F. H. Arnold Believes in Interesting Boys in Purobred Livestock.

Keeping the boys on the farm, interested in agriculture, is one of the main problems confronting the farming business. Many farmers protest to their sons that there is "nothing in farming." and when of age the generally the sons and daughters of the city and industrial plants. The trouble is, too many farmers use their sons as "hired men."

Stepping one day at the Sunny Side stock farm of F. H. Arnold, a visitor asked to be shown the livestock. There was a youth about 14 years old at the house. He could name every animal in the cattle barn and every bird in the poultry house. He was interested and anxious to show the stock of the farm. The inspection over, he led out his own fine Shorthorn steer, entered in the baby beef club contest.

Interest in Stock. Farming was interesting to him for the reason the stock was interesting. There was something to talk about and he had stock of his own, given to him to develop. Ownership of the stock and interest in the stock with either the farm boys or girls.

The trouble is that too often the father on giving the boy or girl a calf or pig puts the boy or girl when the animal develops and is sold. There is no mistake about the fact that the four sons of F. H. Arnold are interested in farming. The boys have charge of the Durocs and they are having success with the herd. I leave them alone and only try to help them now and then," explains Mr. Arnold.

There is another breeder in Rock county who has exceptional success with Shorthorns. His two sons have had a part in the development of the herd and had complete charge of the animals at the fair. They kept the premium money and "dads" paid the expenses. They were willing to work and veteran breeders had to step in to beat them in the show ring. The boys came home with grand champion ribbons from four fairs. Graduated from the agriculture class in the Janesville high school, they applied practice to their school studies and today are competent judges of cattle and swine.

Make Sons Partners

Partnership is the solution of times to keeping the boys on the farm. Mr. Arnold and his sons believe in livestock and it is paying. Their best bets are Shorthorns of the milk-line strain, and Duroc-Jersey swine.

The herd bull is Sunny Side Royal, sired by Walgrove-Snowstorm, the great Shorthorn bull owned by the Rye brothers. This young bull won first at Janesville, Madison and Milwaukee, third at Madison, and fourth at the state fair as a junior yearling. He is being kept in growing condition. The herd is tuberculin tested and milk records are kept.

The Duroc herd shows care and pride in the breeding.

Duroc-Jersey Boars Sired

40% of all the pure bred hogs in the United States. Considering the fact that there are eight swine breeds, this marked superiority in numbers breeds conclusively the marked superiority of Durocs as producers of pork at a Profit on American Farms.

is absolutely the principal essential of profitable pork production. The good or bad characteristics of the sire will be transmitted to his offspring.

The value of the pure bred boar lies in his ability to sire an even uniform crop of pigs that carry to a marked degree his excellent characteristics. It is easy to believe that a boar coming from a line of ancestry that has been bred for many generations for a specific purpose will transmit his qualities to his progeny. Pure bred boars of all breeds represent the best efforts of constructive breeders who are constantly striving to produce hogs that will mature more rapidly, feed more easily and take the finish necessary to top the market. This pure bred boar is the result of years of careful selection and mating in order to preserve in the various breeds the "goodness" and "smoothness." A pure bred boar of approved type and who is what his pedigree represents him to be will produce pigs that are uniform in size type and conformation. This general uniformity can not be obtained through the use of hogs of uncertain ancestry. The price paid at the market is largely determined by uniformity.

Need Good Boars.

In buying a boar it is not a question of whether a man can afford to own a really good individual or not. It is a question of whether a man can afford not to own such a sire. It is always a serious mistake to buy a boar that is not a sire. A cheap common or inferior boar is a better one than a poor one. The right kind of a boar is always worth more and will pay for himself in the first or second crop of pigs depending on the number of pigs produced in the herd. His produce will be an improvement over their dams, be uniform, feed economically, mature early and show finish locally, mature early and show finish locally, mature early and show finish locally.

DAIRYING FAVORED IN FEEDER STATES

Change from Pork and Beef Production to Milk Production.

During the year ending in July, Iowa farmers took 5,373 pure bred and high-grade dairy cattle out of Wisconsin. Iowa is known mainly as a corn belt and pork state. There is a change taking place. In Iowa's agriculture, with the dairy cow becoming an important factor in greater diversification in crop production to furnish feed for the herd will follow. All points in the same direction—more dairy and livestock of all kinds in the corn-belt and western states.

Iowa is no different from a number of other western states. Utah, Colorado, Montana, Idaho and others are in the market for dairy cattle. Wisconsin is the chief selling state in the United States when it comes to high grade cattle. There is now a demand and there will be a greater demand for stock in these western states. They are going to like dairying out in the grazing plains and are coming back for more cattle.

The sale of livestock is a business and should be handled as such. Southern Wisconsin courses should cooperate to get their share. Rock county must put efforts forward to get its share of the business. With livestock coming riding and telephoning to local surplus stock. In addition, the county must take action to assure tested herds. Nothing would boost Rock county more than to be the first accredited county in southern Wisconsin.

Must Set Grades For Wis. Tobacco Under Pool Plans

With the appointment of a general manager, warehouse manager, and field man, organization of the Wisconsin Tobacco Growers' association is well under way. The planing system still has to be accepted, whereby the growers are to receive 50 per cent of the value of the crop when they deliver. This is being worked out by the directors with the advice of a committee of bankers.

The next step is the setting of the prices and establishing of standard grades for the Wisconsin crop.

CURING OF SEEDS VITAL WITH CORN

Folly to Dry Seed Corn on Side of Buildings.

A good yield of corn depends upon a number of factors, three of the most important being the selection, curing and the testing of the seed. Proper care in securing the best seed will be more than repaid in yield.

It is best to go into the field after the husks on the ears have turned yellow and select the well formed ears. It is well to follow definite rules in securing seed corn otherwise a large number of good ears are missed.

The most serious mistake made by many southern Wisconsin farmers is drying the seed corn out of doors. The vitality of the seed corn will be materially reduced and the corn will be exceedingly low if the corn is exposed to winter weather conditions. Germination tests made at the Wisconsin station show that where corn is left lying in a dry room or attic or was fire dried, it gave a germination test of from 78 to 100 percent. Corn should never be placed against the south side of a building. It is likely to be a strong sunlight, as the rays of the sun will injure the vitality of the seed on the side of the corn turned outward. Placing ears outside exposes the ears to sudden changes

Soldering Operations

Not Difficult And Well Worth Knowing About.

IF A WIRE BREAKS and has to be soldered or a cable terminal comes loose, if the gasoline or oil pipe splits or breaks away from one of its fittings, if the metal float of the carburetor or vacuum-tank springs a leak or a seam opens in the sheet metal header of the radiator and in many other similar emergencies, soldering is the method of repair. The motorist may well have on hand the few tools and materials required and possess the slight knowledge needed to do such work himself. The outfit should consist of a medium sized soldering "iron" or, still better, both one of a moderate size and a small one for finer work, and a gasoline blow torch for heating the irons and for "sweating" the operations. If electric irons are used or if a gas stove is handy, the wire form, soldering paste (flux) for use on brass and copper and a little "acid" for iron and steel operations, a few files and a scraper or two (old knives being good enough) and emery cloth. Here are the most essential facts regarding soldering: Melted solder will not unite two surfaces, unless both of them are absolutely clean and bright and flux and acid are merely to keep them free from oxidation, when heated. Soldering will not unite metal parts unless they are both hot enough to melt solder. Tanks or pipes cannot be soldered while there is liquid in them, nor can large metal pieces be soldered with a small iron, because in both instances the heat is conducted away too fast to secure the melting temperature. Heating cannot be effected with a dirty iron, as its oxidized surfaces will not conduct heat enough to the work. Parts to be soldered together must be in contact, as solder will not bridge much of a gap, and any but very small holes in sheet metal must be closed by soldering small pieces of metal over them, rather than by trying to fill them with molten solder. The iron must never be heated so hot as to reduce the solder on it to dross, and if this happens, its surfaces must be filed down to bright metal. Whenever practicable, better results are obtained by heating the parts directly with a blow torch and applying the stick of solder itself to the desired point of union, rather than using the iron. (To be continued.)

FUEL ECONOMY OF FOREIGN CARS

G. B. H. writes: A friend of mine, who has just been doing some motor touring across the water, tells me the cars they use there obtain easily 30 miles per gallon which are unheard of here. Why can't American engineers design just as economical engines and cars?

Answer: They can and doubtless would. If American motorists would buy and use the cars after they were produced. The typical European car is not only smaller and lighter than the average American car, but its engine is extremely small compared with that on the American car, and usually only four cylinders. It is so small that it has to be run at nearly full throttle most of the time and thus has a high fuel economy as compared with the much larger American engine, which is usually operated closely throttled. The smallness of the European engine of course calls for frequent use of the lower gears while the American car takes nearly everything on "high." If American motorists would put up with smaller cars and tolerate lots of gear shifting, their gasoline economy would be as high as the European's.

GENERATOR WON'T PICK UP

C. W. C. writes: The generator on my car is almost dead, although it is almost new. It brushes are clean, its brush connection O. K., its field circuit neither shorted or broken and its armature and commutator in good condition. There is no magnetism in the field, either running or still. Would it be possible to make it pick up by passing an outside current through the field coils?

Answer: If you start the engine, remove the cut-out cover and touch the cut-out contacts together, with the fingers, current from the battery will flow back through the generator field (if its circuit is complete) and if the armature is all right, the generator should pick up. However, if what you say about the condition of this generator is correct, it ought to generate, without the outside excitation. Perhaps a light sanding of the commutator or a little extra pressure on the brushes would help it to do so. We presume from what you say that you have really tested out the field winding for continuity and the armature winding for freedom from shorts, but if not, you better have this done.

The Standard of the World

The owner of a Cadillac is impressed almost immediately by its day-by-day dependability. But what cements and seals his allegiance to the Cadillac is the continuity of this fine performance over a period of years.

He gradually realizes that this dependability which he prizes is not a mere passing quality to be enjoyed while the car is new, but that it is to endure in all its fullness throughout his entire term of ownership.

From the time of that realization forward, and the realization comes certainly and clearly to every owner of a Cadillac, his whole conception of motoring possibilities changes and becomes infinitely broader and finer.

You Buy to-day Is a New-a Better-a Heavier

at the $10.65 Price with No Tax added

Last spring at the $10.90 price it seemed to motorists as if the 30x3 1/2 Clincher Tread USCO had reached the peak of tire value.

Yet the makers of USCO have now produced a still better USCO—a longer wearing tire with thicker tread, thicker side walls, better traction, longer service, more mileage. And the tax is absorbed by the manufacturer.
